A fine if it's just a random grave. A huge fine and a period of exile on our exile-island with labour and citizen drill camps if it's a historically or culturally significant grave (rare historical artifacts or mummies, national heroes, etc).

No prompt, so I'm doing AAN.

New England has ancient statutes for grave-robbing, but do their archaic nature, the pertaining law is now civil liability for emotional damage and punishment for any possible theft.

KN News: War on the horizon as Qveiti military leaders refuse to withdraw naval vessels from Greek waters despite Turkish demands and statements that it is disrupting peace. This follows a request by Greece for the KNAN to station a carrier group in the Aegean to assist Greek Air Force in patrolling it's air space. NATO has yet to comment but urges restraint by both Greece, Kallitnuunati and Turkey.

'hate crime' as a concept does not exist in the United Provinces. If a crime is done against an English American, it will be prosecuted merely as that crime just as if it'd been done against any other American.

Would be charged following the scope of the crime. Can range from a few months in jail to life in prison without parole, plus fines between a few hundred to hundreds of thousands of dollars.

Edit: Ninja'd. Assuming we're talking about hijacking an airplane, such a reckless endangerment can not be punished by less than lifelong exile on our manual labor and drill camp island, and that's if they give up and surrender themselves of their free will - most likely our special forces will kill them all after departing the plane after they fell for our deal offer.

If before the 9 o'clock watershed, death.
Otherwise, a minimum of 4 years and a maximum of life with parole after 33 years.

Not a crime, because police isn't anymore biological, I will change it to call a police a lower model of robot, in that case, the officer decides what to do, it could go beyond nothing to death.
