Monkey 6527 was eaten alive by carnivorous insects

People tend to assume that Entrance of the Gladiators by Julius Fučík is what that ever so famous circus clown theme is. And in a way, it is. Nobody would ever argue with you on this fact.

However, if you want to be an unlikable, pedantic jerk, the song actually known to be circus music would be a version composed for American woodwind bands (and later transcribed for fairground organs) titled Thunder and Blazes, published by Louis-Philippe Laurendeau.

Of course, this information is of absolutely no consequence to anyone.

OOC: It would be Monkey 6522.

He was thrown out by Monkey 6521 who suspected him of posioning the late great Monkey 6512, his brother.

Monkey 6521 later died of giref.

Monkey 6510 did reach the truth. The forbidden knowledge and subsequent existential horror shattered his feeble monkey brain, leaving him in a vegetative state. Defenceless and immobile, he was soon picked apart by vultures.
