In the later half of the 20th century, the Kamadian government embarked on a successful, yet occasionally criticized government mission entitled 'Project Punarjanma', which sought to modernize Kamad, while simultaneously establishing an enlightened, educated populace better suited to the 20th century demands of the world. In a nation fraught with low literacy rates, domestic violence, and a largely ruralized society, the government needed to transition Kamad from a culturally traditional, mostly agrarian nation into an educated developed one...and it worked well.

AN: Citizens have total freedom to promote peace, equality, and friendliness as backed by the constitution...albeit being a bit redundant as a right 🤔

"After 30 years of economic chaos and depression, the world is on the brink of collapse as humanity faces political instability, oil shortages, and climate change. The Voices of Providence, the ruling regime, adopts a strict code of conduct in regards to law and order. Many, although not too many, are sentenced to death by hanging. Law enforcement are also given the green light to beat criminals to death if they deemed it necessary, or even exiling them to radioactive wastelands where miserable death are certain. Meanwhile, unreasonable searches and seizures happens with regular frequencies, while the cultish regime (who apparently perform human sacrifice) extorts taxes and threatens those who don't pay with imprisonment or forced labor. Truly a depressing (and not unrealistic) dystopia.

The Germanian Empire ✚ "Das Reich uber Alles!"

Factbooks | Music | Tech Level: PT/FanT | Current Year: 1940 AE

An ancient empire in the heart of Europa, born and forged in the fires of war, headed by an embittered Kaiserin and her ambitious generals. Surrounded on all sides by invaders and saboteurs, and having emerged victorious but scarred from a war to end all wars, the Fatherland stands on guard.

Set to go through a major rework. Timeskip, new factbooks, and map update included.

Vadterland: The Stahlpakt, a defensive military organization, is one of the three belligerent organizations of their version of the Cold War. The other two are analogies for the Greater East Asian Co-Prosperity Sphere and the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, but only to a certain degree.

Shokpos: The Kalosian Navy is equipped with two torpedo boats and one monitor, though two ships of unidentified design are also under construction. That doesn't seem like a good navy tbh.

Direct democracy is actually quite systematic in Nya Valhall, wherein 150,000 signatures within 18 months to submit a constitutional amendment. This gives citizens a lot of political responsibility in civil society.

Not quite as dictatorial as it would appear at first glance, with the leader/Punong partly answering to the legislative branch (separation of powers actually existing). It is also quite unusual to see pluripartidism in this type of nation. Their power generation, most of it from geothermal and nuclear plants, is laudable.

But hey, information as presented by the Ministry of Propaganda could be quite unreliable innit.

A Norse North American nation, with historical roots in Vinland. Land forces are made up almost entirely of droids, and direct democracy plays a heavy role in the government.

Still working on this whole world building thing. Only thing you need to know right now is that the listed population is both accurate and constantly expanding due to conquest.

Apparently, they used to be an anarchic federation. Now, they're in deep shit after letting a rogue military AI take over, who, as all rogue military AIs do, started fucking with all their neighbours in a bloodlust-fuelled rampage. The only thing missing is a post-apocalyptic genocidal nightmare brought about by nuking everything.

Despite being considerably larger and controlling four other states as colonies even in the modern age, the United States is still made of less states than it is OTL. I'm assuming Hawai'i and Alaska were never made states? Or maybe the two Virginias were united?

Deccan's first precursor was the Delhi Sultanate, a 13th Century offshoot of the declining Persian Muslim Ghaznavid dynasty which had previously also lost its foothold in Afghanistan, thus making it the first independent Muslim dynasty within the Indian subcontinent.
