Barely one year after conquering their independence from the Soviet Union following five years of war, Poland fought alongside the USSR against rebels in the Soviet Civil War, which allowed Poland to buy back their lands lost during WW2.

The world in their timeline appears to be in a huge amount of trouble. Their Grand Rectress, Roberta Gallotti escaped from her original home of Bridgeport, Connecticut after the collapse of New England and after a long period of time within a rebel movement, she travelled to Borealia. She then spent time as a lieutenant in the military before becoming the Grand Rectress.

if the nation adopts prudism laws it will be illegal to be topless in public for both genders unless it is at a nude beach, and clothes that are "too revealing" will result in a fine unless the person is a child which will be exempt from prudism laws

Goraria seems to have developed a three-party system, although their actual political positions (as the author themselves stated) are rather unknown. Instead the positions they take are based off of what sectors of the economy they prioritize over others. This might not be the result of first past the post voting, since that would normally derail into two parties rather than just three.

New Florida, which is named after the original Florida, exists because France tried and failed to colonise Florida, but then came back again and did the job right this time, still naming it New Florida because they were both lazy - couldn't think of a new name- and uncreative -didn't just put the original name back on it again. What this doesn't tell me is about how they changed the fact Spain got to Florida first in real life and it was never ruled by France for any long period of time.

It's based on if the Norman Monarchy in England after William the Conqueror's invasion had failed and the Anglo-Saxons rose up, only to be squashed by Viking invaders.

They were formed when the PRC and the ROC formally reunified in 2012, the 100th year anniversary of the end of the Chinese Empire, although reunification talks began after the collapse of the USSR and the two nations had already formed an alliance in 1995 and a confederation in 2000.

i've gone rusty during my hiatus, i completely forgot they were a constitutional monarchy and that the emperor isn't head of government. or was it state? i forgot already thanks to the cough syrup. point is, they actually have democratized and i feel like an ass, even if not as much as continental europe has. point is, i need to read better and get a longer attention span.
