Lord Man actually escaped the dying universe in the "Man" thread and went to tree world to liberate its non-tree inhabitants. The Lorax and Clorax are put to death for their crimes.

The european empire opens its space programme with the goal of gathering the resources of space and bringing them to europe. They'd use the research done by the catalans to speed up progress on the programme, however all that they'd find are scibbled notes and some field generators (which might be used for shielding). And in a speech the emporer of the European Empire Garry Wyzklos would say that they'd get a man on the moon (or moon fragments or whatever) in 10 years.

Also forced military training is mandated for atleast 6 Months.
