In general, the climate of New Wolvern can be described as a mix of the Italian Mediterranean climate and what the Koppen scale would probably classify as either the Oceanic climate so common in Europe or the Humid Continental climate that exists further inland...in any case normal summers and very cold winters with other well-defined "seasons" is what we imagine.

Greater Victoria: Save for Grigori Tepes and Mr. Douglas, most of their political inner circle is very youthful looking. And their maid wears a very, uh, unorthodox fabric of choice.

They were ruled by a party filled with corrupt leaders but then the corruption was made public and reformist factions gained support within the party leading to a new period of stability.

There are a lot of creatures in their universe, one such thing are the vampires, who look pretty terrifying.

While not a "religion" per se, Coryana does have Ten Commandments passed down from bronze age legal codes which form the basis of the modern Coryan sense of morality.

The first three of these commandments can be interpreted to be developments in an early form of the Coryan Utopian mindset:

1. Thou shalt respect your family, friends, and enemy
2. Thou shalt protect your nation and kind
3. Shalt take care of the surroundings and nature of everything

An alternate history version of China in which the alliance between the Kuomintang and the Communist Party never broke down, eventually resulting in a federalized, democratic China. Though one of the world's strongest economies and an emerging superpower, China continues to suffer from high rates of income inequality, an overreaching and sometimes corrupt government, and cultural issues that continue to persist despite the efforts of many reformers over the decades. Most factbooks are still an active WIP.

I basically took some names from Doctor Who because I wanted to create an enemy for the Cosmic Mainframe that was another hivemind, but with different goals. Although I was thinking about retconning it I eventually decided it worked well enough not to.

So the Papal Mainframe and Trenzalore exist but they are very different. And the Doctor doesn't exist (or they might, but they have never been to this galaxy).

Okay, looked really cool with the 10,000 year empire with capitalism, Mesopotamian aesthetics and advanced technology up until the point where I read that they bury their dead by not mummifying, not burying, but putting their corpses in statues. Depending on how good the artist was, you could probably sell Grandma for a nice profit to a foreign buyer after a few years.

That the Cossack Peoples have definitely never even considered attempting to interfere in a foreign election. The device that was found was obviously only a children's toy! No need for investigations, of course.

Their royal family are Albigensians or Cathars — members of a Christian dualist, gnostic sect from the middle ages which developed from the Paulician movement in the Byzantine empire.

Their lower house is the second largest in the world, larger than the entire British parliament put together. It also has the highest ratio of lower to upper house. Despite this they have the second highest ratio of population to seats, second only to India.

They've allocated six billion dollars to a fund aimed at allowing potentially-useful foreign scientists to immigrate. A less shady Operation Paperclip.

Their de-facto capitol system of Thom is purpose-designed as an interstellar deathtrap, to the point where the star at its center radiates comms-jamming meme radiation that even they have no direct defense against, through unclear means. A man's home is his castle, I suppose.
