A subordinate of the jumped-up child-empress? Well now. A soldier, caught up in the senseless warmongering wrought by his superiors, and yet staunch in his defense of his friends and allies... commendable, to a degree. I can honestly praise his selfless conduct and willingness to place others above his own wellbeing, though I do caution him on the blind adherence to orders. No matter how one loves their nation, rationalism should take precedence above all else. I cannot judge him as a leader, but I can certainly commend him as a soldier. And as a person - it saddens me that so many officers, allegiance and nation notwithstanding, never seem to make the connection between the two.

What happens when you cross anime powers and overpowered leaders with furies, all written by a bored Homestuck fan with too much time? Well, you get Rumei. A multiethnic, FT republic with both might and magic that let it conquer the entire Orion Arm.

A 7.6 (this is probably outdated but I can't do the calculations rn) (Tier 9, Level 6, Type 9) according to this index.

Come to The Orion, we got CULTURE and FURRIES

Show Recommendation: Cobra Kai. It is very, very good.

IC Name: Roman Republic, or simply Rome (Rumei). Occasionally called the Ignisian Republic. Current year is 2697.

"This Pyrrus character is a rather unpleasant little hairball, isn't he? His list of dislikes is decidedly more telling than his likes, and reveals him to be naught but a fascist and an antisemite, an enemy of all civilised peoples. At first it would seem his support of homosexual equality indicates a progressive streak, but when you look into his personal affairs it is revealed to be purely self-serving. Quite disgusting, really, that he's willing to break his own ideological principles, even if they are foul, for personal gain."

Kako Kasei is an "idealistic naive secretary who proves the value of having someone to deal with day-to-day paperwork so government officials can focus on urgent matters". "While I do indeed respect Mr. Laqip for his military service, I have many disagreements with him in terms of policy. His expansionist views are troubling, and he reportedly seeks to invade other nations mainly to promote his version of socialism. I have seen this economically-driven imperialism before here on my world, and I am vigorously opposed to it. While conquest may be justified in some cases, his senseless warmongering has little justification and only degrades my opinion of him. His godlessness and other personal beliefs too make me view him in a negative light. I would instruct him to focus on bettering the people of his own nation before he tries to do so for the peoples of foreign states. Such would benefit Qachuynia in the long run, I believe."

PSA from the OP of this iteration of the game.

Please oh please stop double or triple or quadruple posting and kindly use the EDIT feature to string multiple replies together. And if you are getting skipped?

Did you ever stop and wonder to yourself why you are skipped? Please do. The previous page was a crappy mess.

I also plan to get this Archived, if that's possible and approved by the Mods (I'll ask them when this reaches 500 pages), so... Yeah, hope you don't mind seeing your posts preserved instead of purged automatically.

/ End of PSA, now please do one for Greater Karthago.

The nation-state is an artificial concept, dreamed up by authoritarians and statistes to keep a better grip on the people with a convenient myth of 'national identity'. Still, looking at this 'Protector-General', he probably knows a thing or two about authoritarian statistes, what with being one himself. His attempts to hinder the freedoms of the Italian people he claims to love so much will only drive them into the dustbin of history."
