Most beloved benevolent hottie

He is pretty thicc admittedly. People were simping when Kim Yo-jong would assume power, but she doesn't look like a massive cuddly teddy bear. Pedestrian tastes in authoritarian thirst traps, I say!

he just a wittle thickie is what he be just a wittle snuggly-wuggly bear

ugh gross, women
Yo-jong is not attractive - unlike daddy kimmy <3 <3

I always imagine my leader Queen Dysnomia to be attractive by demon standards, but pretty scary by human standards. She's a very regal woman with a commanding presence, almost like Ultimecia from FF8 (yes i had to use that example) or Maleficent from Sleeping Beauty

Okay now this is a bombshell cliché: nations that use anime pictures... without crediting the artist.

(yes i'm guilty as hell in this, which is why I wrote a defense appeal on my OOC factbook before posting)

Cliche:

Nations that claim to be one thing (like a "magical, ancient kingdom") only to be something else entirely (some ancap stellar empire with hard sci-fi)... With factbooks that are either "outdated" for the current year of the nation (due to covering the past but barely touching the present) or are simply hilariously scant with no real source of a proper "current" year ("[Leader] was elected in 2019... Still in office! Oh and then there was that debate in like, 2025, which was a long while back!")

Kek.

But really though, those nations are a little annoying, especially when you have games like "BN trains ANs soldiers" and then all you have for info is that the military exists and they have guns... But then the military history section shows them with muskets, but the nation history section then goes into detail about how they managed to put people on Mars or something.

This is why my (not really actually updated anymore) general overview factbook has the first line telling you what the current year is and the main page of Gandoor's wiki has the current year in-canon as well.

Honestly I try to point at a current year, though afai I should probably do that in one of the bigger factbooks I have, just to make it easier.

Granted, the vast dispatches and factbooks I already have seem to point at a period in time around 2020-2024...

... Eh, still setting a standard year regardless.
