I mean, we can actually create a mathematical definition for evolution in terms of the evolutionary algorithm and then write code to deal with abstract instances of evolution, which basically equates to mathematical proof that evolution works. All that remains is to show that biological systems replicate in such a way as to satisfy the minimal criteria required for evolution to apply to them, something which has already been adequately shown time and again. At this point, we've pretty much proven that not only can evolution happen, it pretty much must happen since it's basically impossible to prevent it from happening.

I never seem to finish all my food

I always get a doggy bag from the waiter
So I just keep what's unchewed.
And I take it home
Save it for later

But then I deal with fungal
Rot
Bacterial formation
Microbes
Enzymes
Mold and oxidation

I don't care.
I've got a secret trick up my sleeve.
I never bother with baggies
Glass jars
Tupperware containers
Plastic cling wrap
Really a no brainer.

I just like to keep on all my flavors sealed in tied.
With aluminum foil
Foil!
Never settle for less
That kind of wrap is just the best
To keep your sandwich nice and fresh
Stick it in your cooler
Cooler!
Eat it when you're ready
But maybe you'll choose
You'll choose!
A refreshing herbal tea
