"Given how he's the leader of a minority-rule government, I must question his dedication to the rule of merit over color. With that in mind, he's certainly built for the job. Riding along the coat-tails of a great societal collapse to establish an ethnostate for a population not even remotely 'native' to the territory is certainly impressive enough. Explains why he, instead of old Kaiser Wilhelm's granddaughter, is the big cheese in the venture."

His Majesty Gustav IV, King of the Balts

AN: "Herr Großkonsul sounds more along the lines of a mixture of a large number of Science-Fiction tropes -in particular, the manipulation of superior Galactic Powers at a state of Cold War while preparing to crush them both. For that -the shrewd soldier-politician like behavior- I can respect him, but his very nature as a military dictator -for any state without a fully civilian government is nothing but that- makes me abhor him. Well that and his Slavic heritage"

Despite her religion being central to the state she has set aside territories for those of other denominations, and on top of that she has shown herself to be very charitable despite her high position. Her nation-state has also made significant strides in environmental protection and sustainable energy. "Yeah dude! Royal throne is really comfy and cozy, and that crown is pretty stylish, so there is really no reason, he would abdicate. Sure, there are responsibilities, after all, unlike me, he rules a proper civilized country in Europe, not a semi-anarchist bunch, ha!

We are somewhat similar, because in earlier life, after high school, he went to the National Guard, and I just took an old sawed off shotgun, tire iron, got myself a badass motorcycle and became a road warrior. And we both fought in wars, got share of battle scars... After that, our life paths diverged. He was educated for statemanship, while I was just brought for challenges and after aching them... became the Overboss.

If ya' ask me, his commitment to improve the environment is a nice thing, and it's pretty interesting, that he supports direct democracy as a monarch. I sometimes wonder, what does it feel to be a monarch?"-Shawn Bjornson

- Prime Minister of the Crowned Republic of Kabzeel, Christov Rozhkovo

Kabzeel, meaning "God's Gathering" in hebrew, is a federal, dominant-party, socialist(non-marxist)constitutional monarchy with a rich Jewish heritage dating back to it's creation in 845 CE. Today, it spans almost the entirety of Eastern Europe and is the largest predominately Jewish and female-led state in the world as it follows the doctrine of "Royal Socialism", a paternalistic conservative ideology with an emphasis on socialization, social ownership, and conservative feminism. Its relationship with Israel is noticeably rocky, but this is due to the ongoing complications between Kabzeelian and Israeli Zionism.

The biggest concern to me is about how militaristic he is, but at the same time, I realise that he might just be like me, or I might just be like him; we are both protecting each other's home from a greater danger, whatever that might be, and wherever that might come from. With that, I am slightly positive towards him upon learning all of this, but I will have to see and wait.
