That's a great song. I always like to hear it.

Paradise Lost - "Internal Torment II"

Death/Doom Metal from their debut album "Lost Paradise" (1990)

I use to never be a fan of this album, but it has really grown on me over time. Certainly an underrated album in their discography.

The Dillinger Escape Plan - Highway Robbery

I mean, we can actually create a mathematical definition for evolution in terms of the evolutionary algorithm and then write code to deal with abstract instances of evolution, which basically equates to mathematical proof that evolution works. All that remains is to show that biological systems replicate in such a way as to satisfy the minimal criteria required for evolution to apply to them, something which has already been adequately shown time and again. At this point, we've pretty much proven that not only can evolution happen, it pretty much must happen since it's basically impossible to prevent it from happening.

"Children of the Night" - Schoolyard Heroes

This is one of the few albums whose appeal hasn't worn out any through many re-listens. Definitely firmly in my top-ten of albums.

"All The Pretty Corpses" - Schoolyard Heroes

This vocal performance gives me genuine chills at time. Horror punk played fairly straight rather than a zany as possible is a damn good formula.

High Hopes - Pink Floyd.

*There was a ragged band that followed in our footsteps
Running before time took our dreams away
Leaving the myriad small creatures trying to tie us to the ground
To a life consumed by slow decay*

Days like dominoes, all in a line

Emerge transformed in a million years, from days like these
