He says to be a "very nice dictator", huh? Cool story bro, but it probably is false, as I have seen plenty of dictators. Tbh, it is very telling when the country doesn't even have sham elections to give extra legitimacy to its rule. I am not too interested about reading in details about his mansion, but it seems that most of parties fled after La Xinga's founding, basically leaving him to reign free as a dictator. Honestly, this sounds pretty outlandish as well. His net worth is not the most absurd, but the apparent exchange rate is - the pong seems to be more valuable than any other former or current currency against the dollar. Sure, there are currencies which are worth more, but not by such margin. If anything, there are more of those which are less worth.

Honestly, at one point the intel just becomes hard to read, and it is hard to get an orientation of what is happening. I hope that you don't embarrass yourself in public, because with intel specialists

"Ah, a High Elf, something that is very different than the usual human majority i normally see here. His personality is not much different from the usual high elves that i have met before, being very into themselves and considering their race as superior above others (and i do not mean this in a negative way, its just observation). but i have noticed his compassion and politeness as well, so that is a plus. One thing that bothers me, and this seems to be a common occurrence among other communist leaders, is that he seems to be very militaristic with 'spreading the revolution', which as everyone knows, carries the potential of lost innocent lives... and this is the very reason why communism is held in such a bad light. but that being said, even capitalism has its evils (as shown by a certain 'someone' above Naevora), and for that reason it has become a long-standing feud between the two sides which, unfortunately, seems to be never-ending at this rate... Nevertheless, he is very capable militarily and politically, as he has shown in his past. I would definitely be interested in getting to know him a bit more. but until that time comes, i will stay neutral"

"Curious. Very, very curious. The Exarch possesses power and beliefs similar to my own. She relies on Light, the powerful force of stars. I, on the other hand, rely on Void, the essence of that which lacks essence. We possess dominion over time. And we both can never truly die. Marvelous. The Exarch is one of the most interesting specimens I have ever seen. Though her power is great, she doesn't use it in the proper way. Though all with power learn to use it for themselves eventually. I cannot wait until that day."

"A master of Silicon like myself. One who shares very similar beliefs to my own. One who I can very much get along with. I hardly care about his views on lesser subjects like orientation rights. I care about his success. Tom's success is one I can highly respect. Yet he sticks to a weak form of software and hardware. He doesn't know the value of truly becoming Void, of becoming Time itself. If only he would realize the only way to go is holding absolute dominion over an aspect of existence itself."

What happens when you cross anime powers and overpowered leaders with furies, all written by a bored Homestuck fan with too much time? Well, you get Rumei. A multiethnic, FT republic with both might and magic that let it conquer the entire Orion Arm.

A 7.6 (this is probably outdated but I can't do the calculations rn) (Tier 9, Level 6, Type 9) according to this index.

Come to The Orion, we got CULTURE and FURRIES

Show Recommendation: Cobra Kai. It is very, very good.

IC Name: Roman Republic, or simply Rome (Rumei). Occasionally called the Ignisian Republic. Current year is 2697.

which really gives her no reason to not do so. Secondly she should surveil her citizens more intensely to ensure no chaotic elements infiltrate her society and bring her functioning system to a bloody end. We would honestly hate to see someone with such potential die in such a foolish fashion. Finally Amaki should automate her army completely, though we're generally in favor of her rule, the military history she has fills us with doubt especially after that quite infamous encirclement. We understand the pain of losing the truest of citizens in battle, but since it had consumed her in the past we would not be hasty to put her back into that position. A drone army would remove that problem. Overall our opinion is positive, though she should really distance herself from the degenerates in Bloodshade."

- Ambrosia von Carstein

"Whoa there, rather uncharacteristic of you, huh? Then again, I'd be raising more eyebrows than I am right now if you weren't as hostile. When one's infamy is attributed to their sadistic nature, yeah, I feel a rather odd mix of emotions. Deep pity and hatred for the girl to be more precise. She really loves trashing on democracy, doesn't she? Well, she might bring up a couple of decent points but a broken clock is right twice a day as some might say."

AN: "Oh yes, I've heard about him. The pompous oaf I've heard about in my travels as well as around the spider web. You know, I have heard rumors of how you came to be. Rumors that I find either fascinating or far-fetched. While I'm not here to play armchair general, it's rather odd that a term such as 'blitzkrieg' is still used to this day. While I'm sure you've developed your own cunning brand of maneuver warfare, I doubt the now-gone Ascendency's ability to wage a proper defensive war. It's less about discipline and more to do with logistics.

But back to the subject at hand, you're an odd hodge podge of ideologies, aren't you? Freedom for your own but exploitation for the foreigner? What a needlessly selfish mindset. You'll invite nothing but frustration and anger from your fellow neighbors."

An interstellar civilization that survived the self-induced destruction of its now long-gone homeworld and is trying to live the good life, all the while avoiding getting its ass kicked around.

"I know it's rather unfair to judge a woman out of my time. Sure, you're tough and a great fit for the society you're a part of but your society seems to revolve around nothing more but the principle of 'might makes right' and I find that concept to be a universally repugnant one, no matter how 'backwards' or 'forwards' one is. The way you live is nothing but a detriment to your neighbors. Raiders and bandits don't deserve a shred of respect or pity."

BESMIRCH MY PEOPLE, DO YOU!?

"Primitive? Primitive? You call us primitive, and yet our lives are more free than yours ever will be. We can go wherever we want, die where we please. We know the value of the band and the tribe. We know honor and faithfulness, and we do not betray those faithful to us. We make only what we need. Your people will die where they are born, living a life of pointless toil. You only know allegiance to your parents. You produce so much that I have maintained an empire off of what your kind do not need. And you call us primitive. We may not be as wise as you, but at least we have not abandoned what is good in this world. We have not betrayed our own nature. Might makes right? You must be joking. No one believes that. If anything, you people are an example of that belief. We are primitive to you- you- Berghi bastard-traitor-scum-thing- because we do not fight like you do, live like you do. And yet your wars have claimed more lives than ours ever will. You fight to destroy. You believe that we are your inferior because we cannot make the same devices you can. And yet if you were not so advanced we would drive you before our lance-heads and you could do nothing to prevent it."

"I don't have great opinions about warlords, but Ari is an exception: she's living in the bronze age and that were hard times, ok, maybe the stone age was a hard time, but anyway...she is a great leader who rules her nation better than other warlords i've ever meet. maybe we can help her by giving her people technology"

"Oh great, more apocalypse-bringers of the planetary scale. And they're making their own pocket universes, too. These advanced empires always make me paranoid that one day they'll screw up horribly and it'll someone screw us over as well. Anyway. Onto the actual individual. An ex-soldier, I see. points. Traumatized, too? It's a common problem here. Anyway...well. I can't actually say much else. There's not too much on the actual policies I can find. Just some equality stuff, fine. If you're going to optimize the internal structure of the government, why not make it a bit more dictatorial? I know you've got a lot of that work done! Ruling for life and all. There's just a few more steps to go. Just get rid of that senate and those elections, and you'll have all the internal optimization you could ever need. You have the chance. Please don't waste it."

"Sigh... Another communist dictator hellbent on being top of the leaderboards in terms of being generally unlikable. My opinion on people like this is always very simple. I. Loathe. Them. This Aozora person is not someone I ever want to meet. I'm sure she would feel the same way about me. Also, what's with the title? Supreme overlady of all reality? HA! What a joke. Please, try not to inflate your ego even more. I'm pretty sure that balloon is about to burst at any moment, you tyrant. ...Actually, yes, please, keep up your game. I want to see you fall off your high pedestal. That would be very amusing."
