I mean, where do you see black/thrash there? It clearly says
"Genre: Thrash Metal"
At least I don't see "black/thrash" ANYWHERE on that page...

Gama Bomb - Atomizer

I meant Skeletonwitch. Not Gama Bomb. I know Gama Bomb is thrash. ☐

There is nothing black about Gama Bomb. I'm not that ignorant!

I will give the genre of Thrash another try. Maybe it's one of those genres I'm particularly picky in, like hip-hop.

Slayer - Raining Blood

Hmm so I guess I do like some Thrash. I'll need to try the genre more.

So just a normal misunderstanding, you were talking about Skeletonwitch and I was talking about Gama Bomb... Well, shit happens.

Do you have any blackish thrash to recommend? Try as I may, I find it difficult to enjoy most thrash. I have the same issue with folk, in which I like black/folk and folk/black, but usually cannot get into folk.

Old and Urn are closer to black than thrash while Sabbat and Nocturnal are closer to thrash than black. All of 'em fall into black/thrash tho'.

I mean, we can actually create a mathematical definition for evolution in terms of the evolutionary algorithm and then write code to deal with abstract instances of evolution, which basically equates to mathematical proof that evolution works. All that remains is to show that biological systems replicate in such a way as to satisfy the minimal criteria required for evolution to apply to them, something which has already been adequately shown time and again. At this point, we've pretty much proven that not only can evolution happen, it pretty much must happen since it's basically impossible to prevent it from happening.

Ah, the beauties of minimalistic ambient drone.

Sometimes ambient music seems like the best music in the world, while other days upbeat stuff does. Recently, I have been in a very ambient mood.

Considering I listened to some post-rock, then black metal, and moved back to ambient
