Scary Monsters and Nice Sprites by Skrillex. It's the only song by him that I enjoy, really.

When I first started to get introduced to Dubstep (From Korn's Dubstep/metal mix album, which I think is cool for them trying something different), I went through a phase where I was digging Skrillex, because the whole Dubstep thing was a whole new thing to me. Then I discovered 'better' Dubstep (or music that's got Dubstep aspects to it but isn't really Dubstep, so to speak), and Skrillex didn't really interest me as much anymore, and I realized that he did kinda have more generic Dubstep.

But this song by him I still dig, for whatever reason. (It's like, his least "Dubstep" song, too. Though, I think people refer to Skrillex as "Brostep").

For 400 bucks you were sweet that day. Guess I should have known you'd never repay.

Strange....I was just showing my dad the Depeche Mode version of this song like 10 minutes ago, if that.....But only because I was showing him it because we were discussing liking some Depeche Mode songs and not others (That song being one I don't care for)

Hammock-The Backward Step.

I would consider these guys one of the greatest, if not the greatest ambient artists/bands I've heard. I love some of their ambient music. Some, or a lot of ambient music I've heard is just meh and boring, because there's not really any substance to it. These guys on the other hand? They are great with some of their songs. Brian Eno and Sigur Ros have some great ambient music as well.
