The Comprehensive List of Capital Offenses (for humans) is not actually comprehensive, and new offenses are being added all the time; additionally, many people are simply executed on the spot in order to provide an example of the punishments held in store for disobedient humans.

Their "reason" for hating "tropicals" (Anyone from Africa, South America, basically anyone that is not from north Europe or north Asia) is that they're a "waste" and need to be "civilized" for the ""greater"" good of mankind.

I don't think you get my IC ideology accurately. First of all tropicals or degenerate tropicals do not include people living in tropical areas who don't behave like archaic Africans such as Arabs and Indians. Secondly "detropicalization" is inherently vague but it refers to ethnic cleansing and later extermination, not reeducation or genetic engineering. At last, tropicals from an EK POV are worse than useless. Their existence is considered inherently harmful to human progress. That is, since tropicals exist the world is full of social ills such as absolute poverty, violence and infectious diseases and that such ills can only be removed if the causes of such ills, namely tropicals, are exterminated. Without exterminating tropicals there can never be a healthy humanity.

The first inklings on earth were created by the Grand Squid which is actually named Aemilia Aetia apparently. She was created sometime after the creation of the universe and actually first created her own dimension sometime before creating the inklings.

Partially inspired by the Third Odyssey mod for EU4, this nation is essentially a Byzantine successor state in South America that has fused together Ancient Greek Religion with Greek Orthodox Christianity. It mixes the aesthetic of Byzantium and Ancient Greece, with very open and liberal social values but with an Imperial Monarchy. NS stats are referenced but are not strictly followed to a T.

Their Emperor, Andronikos V, was born during his father's reign as co-emperor; I'm not sure if that would make him a παρρηγογένης or not, since his father's predecessor was still living and co-sovereign at the time.

Abalos is an unrecognized state in the polar regions of Mars. It was officially explored by Australian Leslie Hyung in 2098, and sometime later in 2111 the UN start terraforming projects and sending settlers and colonist to the area of mars. It seems in 2174 that they declared independence from the UN but this is unrecognized Alpes is still mostly stuck in the late 19th century and early 20th century technologically which is likely a consequence of both its authoritarianism and its tolerance towards tropical enemies of civilization. We East Kekistanis are very interested in knowing how much money the monarch spends on its tropical colonies that are likely unprofitable.

They were originally a band of divided nomadic tribes before being unified under a High King and although their military is extremely powerful it cannot dominate their continent due to limited man (or bird/cat) power.

Arandias became the dominant power in the new world during the Napoleonic wars where when the crown of Spain had into disarray it supported the Mexican war of independence to get the Spanish to leave the Americas. After that, they started to become the hegemon of the new world.

It's essentially some strange mix of the French Colonial Empire and the First French Empire.

Edit: Ninja'd. Editing...

It feels like the North German Confederation from Victoria 2, with a mix of the UK and the German Empire proper, with a little mix of Nazi Germany/German Empire irredentism.

The form of government of a Semi-Presidential government, in which a president exists alongside a prime minister and a cabinet, with the latter being responsible for the legislature of a state.

The President gets elected every 4 years, where new Presidential Elections will be held after the ending of the term, which can be extended three times consecutively.
