I mean, we can actually create a mathematical definition for evolution in terms of the evolutionary algorithm and then write code to deal with abstract instances of evolution, which basically equates to mathematical proof that evolution works. All that remains is to show that biological systems replicate in such a way as to satisfy the minimal criteria required for evolution to apply to them, something which has already been adequately shown time and again. At this point, we've pretty much proven that not only can evolution happen, it pretty much must happen since it's basically impossible to prevent it from happening.

There's millions of bands/artists out there, and millions more songs.
That's not surprising at all.

True. But its still overwhelming. I weny through the first 15 pages of this chat just to look at the songs n i only recognized like 5 songs or bands.

Also,

Blurr by puddle of mud. Damn good song

God damn, this is good. Thank you for showing me the light, Oterro!

In other words — and this is the rock solid principle on which the whole of the Corporation's Galaxy-wide success is founded — their fundamental design flaws are completely hidden by their superficial design flaws.
