Call of Duty: Black Ops 2-You Can't Kill Me

I don't expect to find this soundtrack to be great, but there's probably some enjoyable songs.

Already finding the soundtrack kind of boring and I've barely started listening to it...

The first 2 songs are cool, and I'm sure some others are, but game soundtracks seem to have a similar realm of sound as this a lot. That seems to be the video game industries soundtrack weakness, while movies go with generic orchestra music.

Call of Duty: Black Ops 2-Flying Squirrels

Okay, this ones decent.

I mean, we can actually create a mathematical definition for evolution in terms of the evolutionary algorithm and then write code to deal with abstract instances of evolution, which basically equates to mathematical proof that evolution works. All that remains is to show that biological systems replicate in such a way as to satisfy the minimal criteria required for evolution to apply to them, something which has already been adequately shown time and again. At this point, we've pretty much proven that not only can evolution happen, it pretty much must happen since it's basically impossible to prevent it from happening.

Interpol - Untitled

I absolutely love this album, even though I've only heard it about 4 times. I find it so strange that when you hear something about 2 or 3 times you can already settle on loving it, when sometimes it takes me more then 5 listens to hate or like something.

Usually it is a first time listening thing for me.

Though some of my favorite albums I've come to really like after 2 or so listens.

Like Porcupine Tree and Agent Fresco both.

Fever Ray and the new The Knife album took one listen and I knew they were stuff I needed to own.

Same with a Foetus album, to be honest.

You have the 'gift', to me it takes more than 2 listens to be really sure.

I've listened to St. Elsewhere a few times and it's pretty good, but I think it's weighed down by the fact that a few of the tracks (Crazy, Smiley Faces and The Last Time mostly) are way, WAY better than the rest
