...no punishment? You can't punish someone who's already dead. (aside from restricting/de-glorifying any works they have created, which would be a punishment for a different crime and not for dying itself.)

If unsuccessful then it's punishable by death. If successful you likely didn't survive the crash, but if you did also death.

Between 20 and 40 years in prison, with a life sentence possible in some circumstances (such as if there is an additional charge of treason or terrorism).

Violating/misusing someone else's intellectual property?

It was not long before the story was relayed to Texas Red.

It was over in a moment and the folks had gathered around, there before them laid the body of the outlaw on the ground. I quote Big Iron because i am a fan of
