"Ooooh, what an adorable little friend you are!" she said excitedly, looking at just about every feature of her - hair, eyes, face, everything, really. She took another look, stoned out for a second to gather some data, and she proceeded to evaluate more on her. 67th President, the data would say. Along with the typical politics and some of the more personalities, something which not a lot of leaders tend to have under "Personal Life". "Well, I am positive on you already, my little friend! You are so great, and you have been doing a lot of great things lately, I saw! And the politics that we have are agreeable, so I am okay with that! I can understand why you are a bit reluctant with personal views and feelings though... still, you know you can talk to me if you want! I don't mind hearing my friends out! See you around, and please take care of yourself! We could play Minecraft as well! I will just use my head!" Clarissa would smile sweetly at the woman for a few more seconds before gently putting her back down onto the ground.

Perhaps, this is the reason, why we wouldn't want to assimilate in hiveminds. We will never agree to become soulless husks with no art, no edge and no heart, the very things, that make us awesome! "It is my belief that Arcanum Phoenix is an individual ill-suited for any position of authority nor any position that might involve any degree of administration or exercise of judicial duties. He is slothful and lacks in leadership qualities. He is lacking in pragmatism and realpolitik, and instead of choosing to abdicate as would be right to, he has chosen to divert resources and manpower against an imaginary foe with unhealthy zealousness. He also displays untrustworthiness and a total disregard for the notion of national sovereignty or self-determination, and rather than honour any people's rightful independence, he chooses to assert his false authority like a Christian or Mohamedan fundamentalist - that is to say he sticks it where it is not wanted."

AN: "Overseer Quinn is a commendable individual who has done well to ensure the safety, security and health of her charges. Though I may disagree with her on some key elements of state, these matter little as of course her community's survival comes first. "I admit, I was skeptical of her at first as by the moment I saw the word "Shahbanu", I am immediately reminded of the oppression and corruption of the previous Shah. But she is different and more... benign in her dealings. If people told me that in another universe, Iran would be an empire ruled by Cyrusian, Zoroastrian vampire queen then I would question their sanity but here we are. I support her to a certain extent but the forced assimilation of Arab (and Azeri) minorities would always leave a bad taste on my mouth. Reza Shah attempted and it only fanned the flames of Arab aspiration for an independent Khuzestan."
