CHVRCHES - The Mother We Share \(Moon Boots Remix\)

Your nation is like a son. What it does right is your merit, as well as what it does wrong is your fault. When you praise it, be lucid and avoid exaggeration. Praising it too much can make it indolent. On the other hand, when you criticize it, be harsh, but do not ridicule it. Do your best to improve it, not through derision or disdain, but through good examples and dedication.

Melechesh - "Sand Grain Universe"

If I banged my head any harder at the end of this song my neck would've snapped.

Way. To. Damn. Much, and oftentimes a forced happy ending that makes no god damn sense (War of the Worlds, for an example. Enjoyed the movie more then I expected to but the ending was pretty bland)

F'ing Spotify keeps doing that annoying skipping on EVERY GOD DAMN SONG.

Usually this means I need to reboot my computer.

Toe-Frog

Deleted one of these guys albums. Wasn't really what I was in the mood for. So this is the last one I have to go.

I often suspect the tradition of adding forced happy endings is done under the belief that the target demographic likes happy endings.

Pretty sure it is the case. I see enough people complaining about sad endings. But I'd much rather a realistic ending then a forced happy ending.

If Game of Thrones ends happily, I will be disappointed.

The more bleak the ending, the better. It's always such a pleasant surprise from the usual "everyone lives happily ever after."

Here's a song for you.
