There is no "United Workers Union", and yeah I get the joke attempt.

Edit: apparently you just needed to read the title of the thread.

Ayverin: Not much information on what each party supports, but based on the names the Liberal Democratic Party.

Roegerland: While more right-wing than ideal, I guess the Freedom Party. They aren't nationalist, democratic socialist, or particularly religious & traditionalist.

BN: If you choose a party with factions (i.e. Liberal, SDP, or National), perhaps also say what faction you would most align with/vote for.

If men were angels, no government would be necessary. If angels were to govern men, neither external nor internal controls on government would be necessary. In framing a government which is to be administered by men over men, the great difficulty lies in this: you must first enable the government to control the governed; and the next place, oblige it to control itself.

BN: We use MMP, so choose one party you'd vote for FPTP and one for PR.

What if the British were half-hearted in providing self-government to their colonies? Here we take reference to what could have been the separate states of Singapore and Malaya and how economic progress is used as a smokescreen for a lack of true political freedom for the lower classes, a continued economic inequality and a mix of racial and religious tensions amidst a backdrop of rising nationalism.
