To vote for the extra-parliamentary ones, it is mostly done through both provincial and municipal elections.

In national elections, I could see myself going for the APDM (failing that, the ERP); as for local elections... erm... I can't see myself voting for any of the extra-parliamentary ones, so I'm going to settle for the Independent Bloc.

United Communist Party(BKP) really is the only worthwhile party to support.

All the banned parties are banned for good reason, and all the other leftist parties are sus and hold incoherent positions, opposing the leading vanguard party for no good reason to the point that they might be saboteur factionalists and opportunists, are CIA spooks, or are just there for political pluralism.

I am not a Marxist so I don't know very much about the difference between the first 3 parties, but as a compromise I will choose the Catgirl Communist Party of Feyrisshire (Marxist-Leninist-Maoist).

My nation - which is pretty much just a unified Korea with some extra territory - represents my real views, as does pretty much anything I say on the forums. NS stats only broadly representative. Feel free to call me Q&K, Quartia, or any other nickname.

"I think the Internationalist Party appeals to me the most of the available parties, though it's close with the Quartian Environmental Party. The deciding factor for me was foreign policy. I don't think I can ever be eager to take a militant foreign stance. While the Internationalists' apparent resistance to full socialization and their lax drug policy are not ideal, they are acceptable."

Socialist Party, New Liberal Party, Labor Party; in that order. I'm into the leftism across the board, obviously, but I like the anti-establishment moxie of the Socialist Party and the NLPs reformist ideas. The Labor Party is a little milquetoast generic, but the broad vision they're pitching is pretty much in line

AN:

Parliamentary:

1. Civic National Party
2. Revolutionary Centre Party
3. Arvenian Reform Party
4. Arvenian Libertarian Party
5. Social Capitalist Party - the "limited free trade" and "economic democracy" platforms makes me too hesitant to place them any higher.

Non-Parliamentary: Liberal Democratic Initiative. Iirc I put Small Business Party before, but I didn't realise they were pro-tariffs.

BN: If you choose a party with factions (i.e. Liberal, SDP, or National), perhaps also say what faction you would most align with/vote for.

If men were angels, no government would be necessary. If angels were to govern men, neither external nor internal controls on government would be necessary. In framing a government which is to be administered by men over men, the great difficulty lies in this: you must first enable the government to control the governed; and the next place, oblige it to control itself.

Xanthal doesn't have a Conservative Party. Neither does Hoyerlay from what I can tell. Also you don't seem to have any political parties listed in your factbook. Please read the first post before trying to play.
