Premier Fukushima Sonoko

"The Liberal Progressives seem to be the party for me! Their socially progressive approach and interest in improving and reforming the nation is just the kind of approach to policy and society that appeals to me."

Ambassador Mizushima Miya

"While information on each party is limited, my hypothetical Tocanian vote would be cast for the Democratic Workers Party. Baizoan Marxism is strange and may not be quite as far left as the Tocanian Marxism-Leninists, so without further information I hesitate to cast a ballot there. However, I am open to the possibility that further research might reveal it is the better choice."

BN: See signature for a link to Baizou's political parties. Bear in mind that some parties' names may seem to belie their actual platforms.

I do in fact know the difference. Liberalism comes in both right-wing and left-wing variants, though usually it is considered centrist in fact. And plus, where did I put a Conservative party in the left quadrant?

I'm guessing you're American/Canadian? In most of the world liberal refers to centre-right on economics (pro-market, low taxes, etc.) and centre-left on cultural issues (LGBT rights, open society, etc.), but like Brezilia says its a big tent and there are definitely conservative and left flavours of liberalism as well.

Example Europe

AN: Civic National Party. For extra-parliamentary parties, Liberal Democratic Initiative.

BN: If you choose a party with factions (i.e. Liberal, SDP, or National), perhaps also say what faction you would most align with/vote for.

If men were angels, no government would be necessary. If angels were to govern men, neither external nor internal controls on government would be necessary. In framing a government which is to be administered by men over men, the great difficulty lies in this: you must first enable the government to control the governed; and the next place, oblige it to control itself.

Abstain. There is not one party worth voting for from there. If I was absolutely forced to vote against my will, I would very reluctantly vote for the Conservatives.

BN: We use MMP, so choose one party you'd vote for FPTP and one for PR.
