Not a crime.

Throwing balls that catch whichever creature they touch at random creatures that do not want to be caught?

Authoritarian Democracy

According to Daphomirian law, a person who attempts to kill the Supreme Leader of the Commonwealth of Daphomir is to be sentenced to an immediate death, and the judge himself has the power to choose how the convict dies. Firing squad is common in this case, but the gas room and electric chair have been used too in some cases.

Since AN didn't give a crime, I'll do AAN.

Not a crime unless you throw it at something such as a pet which would be considered theft and punished by at most 1 year in jail + a fine no more than 100 pircs in some places followed by a period of community service. Or if thrown at other people, not a crime unless repeatedly done which would be a fine and probably a night or two with the police.

Spending the entire day very loudly laughing in a busy plaza.

companies are shuttered if they do not provide at least some form of economic democracy within a particular scale, but it is not illegal to support capitalism or oppose such measures in the first place
