Right now we are neutral. We have yet to see his willingness to become an asset..."
-The Paramount

"The Paramount... Well, I always felt like studying him. He's one of the strongest androids I've ever seen aside from Zakruho, and his abilities perplex me. I want to take him apart, see how he works, and turn him into a nice suit of armor, basically. His idea of assimilation is stupid, though. Machines have set limits, organics never will. Trying to find a middle ground is what's needed, not going all one way. I don't really care about much else, I just want to know how he works."

-Ekaterina Pyrrus

What happens when you cross anime powers and overpowered leaders with furies, all written by a bored Homestuck fan with too much time? Well, you get Rumei. A multiethnic, FT republic with both might and magic that let it conquer the entire Orion Arm.

A 7.6 (this is probably outdated but I can't do the calculations rn) (Tier 9, Level 6, Type 9) according to this index.

Come to The Orion, we got CULTURE and FURRIES

Show Recommendation: Cobra Kai. It is very, very good.

IC Name: Roman Republic, or simply Rome (Rumei). Occasionally called the Ignisian Republic. Current year is 2697.

WORD of The President

QUOTE

"Democracy is the only power in the universe for which the abolition of poverty, suffering, and the oppression of one man by another can be fully abolished. No other system is capable of holistically building upon the concerns of the masses for no king and no dictator knows what the poorest village needs more than those that live there. A correctly structured democracy guided by the people can improve the lives of a billion people through representative and direct power.

Supreme Overlady Aozora Chiyumi, in opposition to democracy as a progressive system, is dangerous and disgusting. A threat to all free people, a threat to the livelihood of all those who have fought to not live in fear of any single ruler. She is a sadistic, dictatorial, slimebag who claims the name of the Warsaw Pact. She is a war criminal who uses torture and fear to get her way. Any respectable person of sound mind would oppose the continued leadership of Aozora Chiyumi."

Signed, President of the Federation, Secretary-General of the People's Party, Inteins Arek

"Aozora holds tyranny to be the best system of governance, an attitude that, while not uncommon, is rarely voiced so brazenly. Personally, I beg to differ. Totalitarianism isn't just needlessly cruel and inhumane, it is also inefficient. She critiques democracy for wasting time with needless debates, but in truth tyranny is far more wasteful, obsessed with micromanaging every aspect of society. Do you have any idea how much time, energy and resources that uses up? Of course, I am also opposed to her actions on a moral basis, and I find her utterly abhorrent. But I think that an amoral critique might prove more effective."

As far as I can tell she's some kind of revolutionary leader bringing chaos and anarchy wherever she goes, and violence along with it. "Well now, this is quite a unique situation... Charles loses his entire society, friends and family... then he literally created clones to restore his nation to its former glory. Not going to lie, but it is definitely extraordinary how it has turned out for him, and i will actually congratulate him for even pulling it off. Still, i will take a look into his views... interesting that he chose meritocracy for this, but totally understandable considering that only the best would be most suited for the higher roles... i did not expect him to have no religious view either despite setting it up for the cloned society, but nothing wrong with that... I cannot really see much wrong with this one at all, so my view would be neutral leaning to positive."

Let me tell you the tale of the She-Shaman, my kin, for the tale of the She-Shaman is wise and good.

In a forest far from these lands, untouched by the animals, the spirits watched the sufferings of those under the spell of the evil Ranwhaua, and had gathered in the Shaking Tent. The spirits knew that the lies of Ranwhaua were difficult to break out from, and so the spirit of the stars said to the others: "I will mold us a great animal, and we will guide her as she guides the animals of the forest away from Ranwhaua."

And so the spirit of the stars gathered the cosmic mud at the beginning of all, and the spirit molded a great animal, and he looked upon the animal and said: "Awake, Sera, for the time is yours. Awake, Sera, for the dream needs to be passed on."

And so Sera, the Young Star, fell from the heavens and she fell upon a land devoid of all life. She walked the lands, but found no beauty, but only desert, but only the beginning. Sera asked the spirit of the stars, "O, why have you placed me in these wastes, great spirit?"

The spirit spoke. "You are Sara, and you shall fertilise these lands and create a great forest, for that is why I made you."

And so Sera did as she was made to do, and she spread the seeds of the forest over all the lands she came upon. And she danced, for she knew that the spirits were with her, and knew that the forest will be good. She danced, and the forest grew around her.

But woe! Sera grew tired of her forest. She wished to see new lands, to dance with the spirits once again, to create forests in all lands! Sera jumped from the forest, and flew to the stars. She came upon a new land, yet this land was not empty, for animals lived and fed upon it. Yet, these animals were betrayed by Ranwhauaia, and Sera knew of the Ranwhauaia, for the spirits had taught her his lies, and Sera knew of the evils of Ranwhauaia.

She took a dead branch from the dead lands, and she hit Ranwhauaia! And Ranwhauaia fell, and died upon the lands he had killed. And Sara danced, but the spirits did not dance with her! for the spirits did not wish Sera to create a new forest.

The cunning Sera knew she could not abandon the animals, for surely they would die if they fed upon the body of Ranwhauaia. So Sera took the animals into her arms, and she jumped to the stars, and she flew back to her forest. And as she flew, the spirits danced around her, and all the animals began singing Sera's praises.

And so Sera put the animals in her forest, and she said to them: "Ranwhauaia lied to you, my animals! I will be your new guide, for the spirit of the stars had appointed me as your guide." And Sera was a good guide, for she danced with the animals as she had danced with the spirits, and she guided the animals as the spirits had taught her.

"Another chalk-face of the times untold; a king who defaces his reign. He proclaims the elders of his kingdom children yet bows to their demands and heeds their every choice. He knows nothing of the Dream; he knows nothing of royal blood; it is no surprise that a stillborn so raw has the method of an infant. I would respect his habit if it served a pious cause; it does not, so I condemn his hedonistic avarice. There is word that he is ill; I pray he learns from this; I do doubt my prayers are to be answered. One can only mould so much from a pottery of filth."

- Empress Wallalie I

AN:

"I know not what may be made of him; he is chalked and raw and his reign begun without noble blood. It may well be the wisdom of the elders perceived of this soul; I do not doubt that this perception is misplaced. His kingdom divides into competing groups; they are neither kin nor blood and I know little what else they may be; are these distinctions carved hollow between pillars of avarice? The Dream does not consume me and much is left untold; that he knows fractions of the ways of the land does not exempt him my ire; that he cannot be fathomed shall not bring me despair. I pray our future be rid of him and his ilk; they are contemptible curiosities and to ponder them brings only confusion upon myself."

ACTUAL AN:

"Another raw man; his time is one of chaos; his legacy uncertain. Of what I may decipher of his ways his line of succession has been a predicament; the first claimed by dishonour, the second by caution, the third by greed. He carries the faults of his ilk; he is Dreamless and lesser. His followers contempt and tolerate him in equal measure. His precipice is grave; the breeze may fell him. Of all his faults, I now utter the most dire; his action is not his own, for it is driven by the anguish of another. There is revelation and there is desperation and I proclaim he endures the latter; this is no good portent for him or his reign."

And, to be realistic, taking on all of them [socialist states] at once is reckless...but to support anti-revolutionary actions instead of directly confronting them on the battlefield...perhaps I can gather agents and send them to these states, starting with Orma and his Socialist Communist State."

"It is unfortunate to know that such a good person could also be so dogmatically anti-communist. He does not fully understand that capitalism is no better than communism in its exploitation of the workers for their own gain. Until they break free from their political dogma and realize that post-scarcity is possible, I doubt that their people will ever achieve true happiness."

"How does it feel, Oswald? To feel the same sense of powerlessness as I have done when monke was snatched away from me. You can feel it too, don't you? Reduced to become a sick man and damned for eternity in your bed. I am but a God, Oswald, and this is why I have become a decrepit man in his 30s. All after trying to chase the sun much like Icarus with all of my hubris. You have the entirety of Europe on your palm after your victorious Weltkrieg but what use is it when the realized dream of conquest and glory for the Vaterland is slowly slipping away from your hand? "There is so much things to be done" and "I could not leave this world when the fatherland needs me" you might say to yourself. But it will all come tumbling down in the end and let us all embrace the one great monke in our downfall from power."

The Avant-Gardist State of Patagonia ~~~ Gauchos and Mapuches, orgies and parties, avant-garde art, futurism, syndicalism, the New Man, general strikes, the glorification of violence, spiritual nationalism, esoteric occultism, CIA spooks, Spartanian homosexuality, public sodomy, and more

Triomphe du Surréalisme (1968)

- There are many things said about Patagonia but few actually know what goes on behind the Andes mountains. Tales of human depravation and man's inner darkest self run wild. A place where avant-garde culture flourish and the artist don't fear the censor. Where all live bold and free under the gaze of the Patron. Yet all dreams will come to an end soon...
- Not expecting an essay. Just a couple of sentences that shows that you know my work well enough
