Fing High Road chorus won't get out of my head. It's annoyingly catchy which is going to make me hate it even more.

Before I go away on a trip, I want to try and catch up on my ratings as much as possible, but I'm not feeling very motivated to plow through stuff, either...

Before I go to the army I try to finish up my scrobblenazism. Aka getting them right! 26 bands to go through in one week... not gonna happen. Since I also want to get rid of my backlog, which is 17 albums. After I've finished putting songs into my phone, I'll go my backlog through. Then I scrobble as much as I can.

I mean, we can actually create a mathematical definition for evolution in terms of the evolutionary algorithm and then write code to deal with abstract instances of evolution, which basically equates to mathematical proof that evolution works. All that remains is to show that biological systems replicate in such a way as to satisfy the minimal criteria required for evolution to apply to them, something which has already been adequately shown time and again. At this point, we've pretty much proven that not only can evolution happen, it pretty much must happen since it's basically impossible to prevent it from happening.
