ABBA- Man of the Midnight

Absolutely! When I first found out it was a Queen song a couple years ago I was pleasantly surprised that my favorite band wrote one of the songs that must've played on the radio when I was a baby or something cause the melody always stuck in my head. Guess that's why I like James Taylor and David Wilcox too.

Minutes ago: my failed attempt at playing "Spirit of The Radio"-- Rush on my guitar.

I think I've heard the second Killer Queen guitar solo on a commercial when I was little, so the same thing basically happened with me. ☐

ABBA- Man of the Midnight

Like I always say.....is that really actually a good thing?

Jesu-You Wear Their Masks

Yup, listening to this again. And I feel weird posting that I'm listening to this song again, for whatever reason, because I kinda like to post variety or some such. Usually when I don't post anything at all on here for a while, it's because I'm listening to some stuff on repeat, and don't really think I need to mention I'm listening to the same 2 songs over and over again.

It's not always a good thing, but sometimes catchiness is tolerable.

At this point, we've pretty much proven that not only can evolution happen, it pretty much must happen since it's basically impossible to prevent it from happening.

You're absolutely right. It must be taken in context. But if it's a good song, you shouldn't mind the catchiness. Like with "You're My Best Friend"
