My sister played "I Was Buried In Mount Pleasant Cemetery" in the living room while we were cleaning yesterday and my mom seemed to really like the song. I need to listen to more of that album beyond that one song.

I'm surprised I hadn't found Woods of Ypres sooner, as it's top-tier doom. I found out the vocalist died. >_>

Yeah....Which probably makes the song the singer sings about himself dieing to be rather ominous for the band now...

Edit: Well, for the members. The band is done now. Which is perfectly understandable.

It would be impossible to realistically continue the band without the driving vocalist.

I mean, we can actually create a mathematical definition for evolution in terms of the evolutionary algorithm and then write code to deal with abstract instances of evolution, which basically equates to mathematical proof that evolution works. All that remains is to show that biological systems replicate in such a way as to satisfy the minimal criteria required for evolution to apply to them, something which has already been adequately shown time and again. At this point, we've pretty much proven that not only can evolution happen, it pretty much must happen since it's basically impossible to prevent it from happening.
