My favorite movie soundtrack has shown up on Spotify finally. I know what I'm listening to later.

Joy Wants Eternity-Our Backs Into The Wind

This sounds like a more interesting version of the fairly straightforward post-rock sound that has started to bore me, though I still wouldn't call it the most interesting. Too many post-rock bands sound similar to this, but more generic, and it ends up just boring me because nothing worthwhile is added to it.

Joy Wants Eternity-The Fog Is Rising

Okay....not really sure they interest me enough. After listening to all of these other bands, not sure how much these guys can keep my attention anymore.

Edit: End of the songs more interesting....

For A Minor Reflection-Ephemeron

Going through these guys more thoroughly instead. They keep my attention more. Their EP, which I've heard multiple times, is definitely interesting.

My church recording of it, we sing it like the normal version, but there are a million versions.

Now I'm listening to The Parting Glass

Ahh, okay, that makes sense. Not sure how you would name your Church version. Name your Church I guess?

Hah, I just got a random idea of a metal cover of it.....That would just be weird.

I mean, we can actually create a mathematical definition for evolution in terms of the evolutionary algorithm and then write code to deal with abstract instances of evolution, which basically equates to mathematical proof that evolution works. All that remains is to show that biological systems replicate in such a way as to satisfy the minimal criteria required for evolution to apply to them, something which has already been adequately shown time and again. At this point, we've pretty much proven that not only can evolution happen, it pretty much must happen since it's basically impossible to prevent it from happening.
