☐ So surprising, the new Nickelback is generic garbage!

God that was bad.
Well...at least they're consistently generic garbage.

It's a shame too, because the song seems to have a serious meaning in it. Too bad the sound is so generic.

Tinashe ft. A$AP Rocky – Pretend

Lyrics didn't sound very good, though.

...really disappointed with this. The beat was really weak. And A$AP Rocky was unnecessary; he didn't add anything to the song.

Eh, they probably could have been written better, but I liked them.

Edit: Forgot to put a ☐ at the end of my consistently comment.

Having multiple NS pages up makes things confusing and I mess up posts. ☐

Works on his "Party Music" playlist. My brother randomly played the playlist I made him at the party about 10 days ago, and that's not exactly full of entirely party appropriate stuff (Though was still entertaining choosing stuff on the playlist), so I decided to make my own playlist for the hell of it ☐. Not that this is all party appropriate, either...I can't be entirely party appropriate ☐

Hmm...a party playlist. I have absolutely no use for one, but I may make one anyways; sounds like fun. ☐

Hmm...I kind of like that. They've got the whole Nelly-esque Southern vibe thing going on.

Not that I'm a fan of Nelly, but the production on this song sounds like something Nelly would do.

He's a much better lyricist than I originally gave him credit for.

I mean, we can actually create a mathematical definition for evolution in terms of the evolutionary algorithm and then write code to deal with abstract instances of evolution, which basically equates to mathematical proof that evolution works. All that remains is to show that biological systems replicate in such a way as to satisfy the minimal criteria required for evolution to apply to them, something which has already been adequately shown time and again. At this point, we've pretty much proven that not only can evolution happen, it pretty much must happen since it's basically impossible to prevent it from happening.
