Apparently their canon has an "Extra-Universal Soviet Union" and an "Extra-Universal Nazi Empire", which their nation fought alongside in the First Extra-Universal War.

Mexico's entry in the Revolutionary Wars was caused by the un-constitutional overthrow of AMLO by part of a military junta. The EZLN catalyzed the uprising against the new rightist regime.

Marie Kattenby's ancestry was mixed in many senses, as her parents were of differing social class and even race/species(?) — her father was a White Anglo Protestant, while her mother was a Palmeran Neko.

Alright my dude/dudess.

Marie Kattenby-García was the appointed provisional leader of Las Palmeras during the time that different sections of the military with different ideals were in a standoff. This standoff was called Punto Muerto Navideño, meaning that it was around christmas.

During Marie's government, the country started trade with both the Western and Eastern blocks in the Cold War. On top of this, she reinitiated relations with the Americans. She's attributed as the cause of the Microprocessor Miracle, an era in which Las Palmeras grew economically at very fast rates.

Dangit, Ninja'd!

The Loulan Kingdom used to be an underdog in Asia, being a puppet of modern-day Tibet. However, the Kingdom began to expand its borders, unifying all of the cities nearby. This changed Loulan's status from a weak puppet to a powerful trading nation.

That apparently Bose went full on communist in this timeline, yet at the same time modeled the Azad Hindi heavily similar to Japan, which is surprising, to say the least. As far as I am aware, he sought support from both Axis, and USSR - wouldn't he lean more towards fascism in case of axis victory instead?
