we, unlike the bourgeoisie, have nothing to lose and therefore our expression will be the only honest one, our words will be the only challenging ones and our art will be the one revolutionary expression. We need new noise and new voices and new canvases to become something more than the last poets of a useless generation.

Everything's gonna be alright now - Babysitters Circus.

Seriusly, these guys, Two Door Cinema Club, Ok Go and You Me At Six should REALLY think about their band names again. Of Montreal, !!! and maybe the Foo Fighters too.

"The Glitch Mob" is a pretty boring name, but not technically bad. They play "Glitch Hop", so I guess it works as an easy, simple name. Most names I know are either weird, fine names, or just not very exciting (Like Pelican, Tortoise, Health, and so on). Though, names like "Boys Like Girls", "Panic! At The Disco", "Watchout! There's Ghosts" I don't exactly consider to be great.

I think that's like 1 of 3 or 4 Linkin Park songs I've heard that sound way too close to like 2 other songs of theirs. There was seriously like 3 songs on the radio that when they started I didn't instantly know what song it was.

Admittedly, I do like some of their newer songs, though, even if I'd only give them like a 6/10 and they aren't stuff I would listen to often.

Linkin' Park is kinda okay I guess. I love their Rolling in the Deep cover though.

Other bands I think could possibly reconsider their band names are Goo Goo Dolls (Random), Limp Bizkit (just... no), and, of course, The The (for being ridiculously hard to pronounce for non-native speakers and being pretty un-Googleable)

Born to be Wild - Steppenwolf, btw
