What was the dream? Mine are always very vivid and realistic.

I was closing my chickens up for the night and kinda wandering around for some reason, and my rooster came out and attacked my foot.......Odd dream. When I'm having something painful happen to me in a dream, I always feel it in some way outside of my dream, though not really in a pain way just specific parts of my body start feeling weird. Like when I got shot in a dream once my stomach started to feel weird, and after this dream my foot felt weird.

Just remember, if you want the dream to end death is the way out.

Seems about right. But when I was shot I didn't even die. I just teleported to my grandmas house and the guy who shot me gave me a piece of candy, and apologized to me..........My dreams are weird.

Just now realized Olof Arnalds does vocals on some of their later stuff. Quite enjoyed the vocals so gives me more reason to go through her solo stuff.

Sometimes people pass up good bands because they judge by the name.
