What's the deal with rainbows? I mean sure, they are pretty, but why do people think they're gay? So there's a rainstorm, then it stops and the sun comes out. When people look at the new rainbow, do people think, "Oh, it's pretty!", or do they think, "That's gay"? What is up with that?

Autocracy, ruled over from the skies by a terror marked with three strikes. All dissenters are killed. Hence why our beautiful boy has been struck from the flag's face.

AN: For some reason, though the choice of layout, shapes, and palette is perfectly valid for a flag's design for some reason it just feels so very... unnatural.
I don't know what's causing it or if it can even be pinned down to a single thing but it just has this air of synthetic design. It's in this uncanny valley of flags and feels like a mask hiding something perhaps inhuman.

Hive minded total authority hidden beneath a seemingly normal modern republic, I'm calling it.

Bicolor flag with simple symbols - the central symbol actually reminds me of the taegeuk on the Korean flag - make me think democratic East Asian country.

State enforced catboy socialism, since I'm assuming Pinochet would never allow such a thing to happen.
