I always found that more tolerable then a lot of hit single pop songs, but I still didn't really care for it.

Lorde is the big pop act I'm interested in the most right now.

I wonder what you'd think of Lorde. I never know what you'd like in the pop or electronic realm.

A few Lorde examples

I like the simple creepy video of the middle one.

My friend was calling it like, the anti music video music video because it like intentionally completely counters what you would expect from a video with the music, sort of making a jab at all the other dumb videos to the dull pop music

I don't remember exactly, and not sure how true it is, but yeah.

It's nowhere good as Call Me Maybe.

I occasionally like pop songs, but I don't know enough about the genre to find the few songs I like. I only found out about Call Me Maybe because someone sent me it.

You know that song goes amazingly well with Zelda somehow.

Yeah, I'm not sure really what to send you in the pop realm
Because I don't really see you liking Call Me Maybe but you do. And I find it kind of bland while I think Lorde has much more potential.

Maybe you'd like some of The Knife and Fever Ray shrug

For another time.
